

PAARTH DEPALA

50 Howard Close | 07840235917 | paarthdepala@gmail.com

14 March 2020

Dear ,

I am a second year, computer science student at Brunel University London and I am writing for the opening for the software development role at Amadeus.

I offer a great amount of knowledge in Java programming and MySQL, as well as, experience in working in a development team where we created an educational application for my fellow peers, which I presented to the software/technology industry professionals in a University exhibition.

Having also had a background in Python, I am quite versatile with programming languages and can quickly pick up new languages if required. I am a keen learner and would make the most of the opportunities provided by Amadeus to add to my skills artillery.

I have also worked in various teams, from sales team at a food retailer, to a development team at University. This has provided me with opportunities to work with many personalities to understand how to adapt myself into any system.

I believe I would make a strong candidate for this opening and look forward to hearing back from you.

Yours sincerely,

Paarth Depala